California Transportation Commission Update

Alix Bockelman, Programming and Allocations Section, gave the Committee an update from the CTC meeting held on May 19 and 20 in Sacramento, CA. Highlights included the adoption of the 2010 STIP, the adoption of Proposition 1A High Speed Rail Transit Bond Program, approval of $44 million Proposition 1B Corridor Mobility Improvement Account cost savings, and approval to move forward with a Public Private Partnership procurement on the US-101 Doyle Drive project.

Commissioner Jon Rubin asked how a Public Private Partnership will affect the timeline and funding for Doyle Drive. Steve Heminger responded that it is difficult to say since this is the first Public Private Partnership proposed in California in recent years.

Commissioner Jake Mackenzie commented that the Proposition 1B Corridor Mobility Improvement program cost savings will hopefully allow for a more rapid completion of the US-101 HOV lanes in Sonoma County.

Commissioner Adrienne Tissier asked if the $31 million STIP adoption not being programmed for the Freeway Performance Initiative (FPI) will slow down any of the construction being done in San Mateo County. Ms. Bockelman responded that she will need to review the corridors and get back to the Committee but there will be some impact to the program because MTC was not able to secure funding through the CTC. Commissioner Tissier asked if there was an agreement ahead of time to apply funding to the FPI project. Ms. Bockelman responded that AB 3X20 did include provisions that the Corridor Mobility funding would be guaranteed if ARRA money was used on a bond project. However the STIP funds were less specific.

Commissioner Steve Kinsey asked about the potential benefit of a Public Private Partnership other than transferring the operational responsibilities to a private contractor. Mr. Heminger responded that the Doyle Drive project will set the stage for projects that follow. When the funding plan for Doyle Drive was put together it was premised on public funding with the tolling option being ruled out, which narrows the field for the type of Public Private Partnership. This left the state with the option of an availability payment structure. There is a procurement advantage with Public Private Partnership that is greater than design build because the private contractor is responsible for operation and maintenance and equity to complete the financial strategy. Mr. Heminger confirmed that the ongoing payment would come from SHOPP funds.

Commissioner Sue Lempert asked why the Caltrain electrification funding was deferred. Ms. Bockelman responded that Commissioner Ghielmetti wanted more information on Caltrain's financial situation. MTC staff will work with Caltrain staff to provide the information by the next CTC meeting.

Commissioner Kinsey adjourned the meeting at approximately 10:53 a.m.
